10:20 PANEL | Information Security Governance in Agile World

Agile gave us a set of principles that allowed us to build projects in an iterative fashion and respond to change. In general, the security requirements are left until end that can be detrimental to product functionality and quality. This begs the question: What would it take to do application security in an agile manner.

MASTERCLASS A | 14:00

Contemporary IT Governance in Management using COBIT5 and other international best practices

This masterclass will focus on sharing insights on using 'cotemporary' approaches to using 'timeless' best-practices such as COBIT5. We will explore:

- IT's identity crisis: How to remain essential as the business evolves
- Lies business and technology professionals tell themselves
- Modern day IT governance and assurance requirements
- Old-school IT GRC principles that still rule
- How to thrive as a 'value broker'
- Bringing the 'best' out of 'best practices'

Paras Shah, Practice Lead - Strategic Advisory, Vital Advisory

MASTERCLASS B | 14:00

ISACA's audit/ assurance program based on NIST framework

NIST Cybersecurity framework is widely used by enterprises as their cyber governance model. ISACA has developed an Audit/Assurance programme based on the NIST framework. ISACA's program is aligned with the COBIT 5 framework & is designed to provide management with an assessment of the effectiveness of its organization's cyber security identify, protect, detect, respond, and recover processes and activities. This audit/ assurance program provides enterprise leaders confidence in the effectiveness of their organisation's cybersecurity governance, processes and controls.
